

Corrugated Pipe Solutions CPS® – Pipe infrastructure for the 21st century

The sustainable management of fresh water resources is one of mankind's key missions of the 21st century. There is no ecological balance, neither remarkable protection of health nor long term economical prosperity without adequate sanitation. In light of global trends like rising population development and urbanisation, regional adjustment strategy to climate change or the common investment jam within existing systems the technical and political requirements to modern pipe infrastructure become more and more complex.

With its unique Corrugated Pipe Solutions – CPS® DROSSBACH formulates a market-based, innovative reply to this challenge. We are the one-stop shop specialist for all kind of customised solutions of corrugated pipe business whether they are technically or entrepreneurially. From the sales or even development of market driving corrugated pipe systems, to production, implementation and service of excellent proprietary machinery up to strategic business support we provide our clients with individual mix of solutions they may require. It's a win-win situation for our partners and clients, private and public net operators, the environment and the people. Take the chance to win with Corrugated Pipe Solutions!